BETTER BABIES

EVERYBODY knows the old-fashioned kind of baby show, where the prize went to the prettiest, or the biggest, or the fattest youngster. But that sort of baby show is now out of date. "Better babies" is the slogan, and prize winners are tested with the scales and the tape line. They may be as ugly as sin (in the opinion of the mother of the losing candidate), but if they have the right chest measurement, if their legs and arms are properly constructed, and their eyes and nose and ears are in the proper relation to each other, they have all the best of the baby who is merely pretty.

In other words, babies are now judged by their physical and mental makeup, and the strong, healthy youngster, clean of limb and spund of wind, takes the prize. Next week, on Thursday and Friday, there will be a Baby Show of this kind in connection with the annual Flower Show of the El Paso County Horticultural Society, and it is expected that dozens of husky infants will contest. There are three classes: from four to twelve months, twelve to eighteen months, and eighteen to twenty-four months, and in addition there is a sweepstakes prize of $25 cash to the baby under two years of age securing the highest number of points.

Colorado Springs enjoys the distinction of possessing the highest birth rate of any city in the state, and the quality, of course, is up to the same standard. The show next week ought to bring out a fine assortment of model infants.

PROSPERITY

THE Department of Commerce reports that American exports have doubled in volume in ten years. In 1903 our manufactured goods sold abroad amounted to $2,000,000,000. In the current fiscal year the figure is $1,200,000,000.

The fear of business depression and hard times has been in the air for a year, but it seems to be based on nothing more substantial than the uncertainty incident to the election. Certainly it is not due to any actual shortage in production. Indeed, there is every reason to believe that the tendency is to enjoy a continuation of the prosperity which has prevailed, with an occasional brief interruption, for the last six years.

BEATING THE CORNER GROCER.
—The Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.
"A killer may be too proud to beg," says Abe Marx. "He's never too proud to beg," he says. "He's a pretty good businessman and like most general managers it is unusual. True, there have been some DeMolay elections in which certain underworld have engaged in the still soul of political fraud practiced by 100% of their own level, and always their big, fat, and bullet-proof stuffing was planned and directed by men. So surely Dr. Cray would not judge women voters as wholly by these bigoted individuals, any more than he would judge all men wholly by the few crooked politicians who constantly commit the frauds.

But let us admit for the sake of the argument that women in politics are as "biky" as men; let us go still further and admit the obviously impossible assumption that since one-half of the voters in this state are women, they are responsible for one-half of the political crookedness and corruption. Is that a sufficient reason for keeping the ballot from them? At least they have made politics no worse than it was when men did all the voting. And until it can be shown that woman suffrage has actually debased our politics and government, what reason is there for not putting them on an equal political footing with men?

It seems to us that the whole argument for woman suffrage can be summed up in one word—justice. Women should be given the ballot because they have a right to it; to withhold it from them is to deny them something which is as much theirs by right as it is men's. They are subject to the same laws and in large degree the same social and economic conditions. We don't suppose anybody would seriously contend that they are, as a sex, intellectually inferior to men, or any less capable of exercising sound judgment as to the sort of government they want to live under. Likewise, there does not appear to be much power of conviction in the fantastic "a-woman's-place-is-in-her-home" argument. So is a man's place in his business, but that need not incapacitate him from voting intelligently once or twice in two years, nor need he degrade himself in so doing.

It is idle to say that women do not want the ballot; some do and some don't, and those who don't can let it alone. It is equally foolish to say that they do not need it. If a thing is yours by right you instinctively resent any effort by another to keep it from you, whether you need it or expect to use it or not. You consider that if you are alone to say what you will do with it when you get it; the main point is that the worst are as far from life as the sunset from the sunrise. No one may preach who knows the inner life of the people, to whom he is obliged to preach. He may make a theme, and deliver a lecture, but a sermon that has not in it the personal touch of a human soul, is not a sermon, and should never be taken into the pulpit.

CREDITABLE TO NEGROES.

From the Columbian State.
We in this section have always thought our negro population about as happy-go-lucky and ill-provided as a race could be. Yet there has been a curious development of late years among town negroes, at any rate, which shows a surprising disposition to take care of the future. We refer to their resort to insurance of several kinds. They pay for burial expenses—a custom not surprising in view of the deep-rooted racial custom, dating far back into African tribal life, to make much of funerals, whatever the cost may be. Public funds to a considerable amount in northern cities go for pauper burial expenses.

Further than this, the negroes pay weekly premiums of from five to twenty-five cents for policies that guarantee proportionate sums of one dollar, say, to five per week, in case of disablement by sickness, accident or the like. Thus, to the extent that this is done they themselves provide for their own insurance difficulties. Just as the negro organizations are trying to urge white people to do in the north, we should encourage this habit among the negroes and see that the insurance companies do fairly by them.

The Sunbonnet

BY GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

The sunbonnet is a rare relic of antiquity which is now found only on the stage and in remote portions of the country, far from the interurban cars.

The sunbonnet is an ingenious freakle preventer made out of cotton and tied under the chin with a bow knot. It can be bought for ten cents, and made for two. When women wear them, the effect is the same as putting blinders on men. A woman's face, when it is imbedded in a sunbonnet, is invisible except from the front. Thus the sunbonnet makes all women alike, beautiful from the side, and many a wandering judge has

"Loved her madly until she turned" watched a sunbonneted Maud Miller taking the hay in a sunbonnet and has loved her madly until she turned his way—after which he has gone on without any regard for the speed limit.

The sunbonnet is worn by women who are not advertising their good looks, however, and they don't care. When a woman puts on a sunbonnet, it is a sign that she is about to become extremely useful. The sunbonnet is the badge of feminine industry; just as the overall is a complete, albeit for man charged with loafing in society. With the aid of sunbonneted women, have weeded thousands of acres of garden and have hung out the clothes of a soiled and variegated populace. In a section where the sunbonnet predominates there are very few facilities for dancing the Tango, but on the other hand, the servant problem doesn't bother anyone, and crops are exceptionally good.

A great many scientists are meaging up their brains in an effort to discover the secret of the high cost of living. If they were to concentrate their intelligent efforts upon the sunbonnet and ponder over its rise and decline they might get many useful suggestions. When women got 10 cents' worth of sunbonnet in the spring and did $600 worth of work under it in the summer, there was no cost-of-living problem. But when she hung the bonnet on a bush, crowned herself with a $45 hat, and on by an $18 hat pin and sailed out to tea each afternoon, while the culverines roosted on the cabbage and the hired girl left the refrigerator door open a change came over the land. Let Congress restore the sunbonnet by law and all will yet be well.

How the Other Half Lives

BY RUTH CAMERON

When Jacob Ritt said that one-half the world doesn't know how the other half lives I think he spoke a bigger truth than he knew.

For there are many other classes of people who know as little each, how the other lives, as do the rich and poor.

Once upon a time a woman whose life had been spent burning a perpetual sacrifice of energy and time, and intellectual interests and friendship with her husband and children and health and nervous energy before the altar of the house became fat and the routine all the instant, just rather too large a quantity of the last two ingredients into the sacrificial fire and as a consequence had a nervous breakdown, and was ordered by the doctor to give up housekeeping for at least a year.

Being a family physician, the doctor took the liberty of suggesting that a friend of his who had a large home in a pleasant suburb, would be willing to lodge this woman and her family. I have since felt sure that this wise doctor was giving a prescription in that advice, and was thinking of Jacob Ritt's philosophy even if he didn't know it himself.

For the doctor's friend was "the other half of the world" to this woman. She was one of those wives to whom housekeeping is not the whole business of life. She kept her home reasonably clean and she always served wholesome meals to her children, but she possessed her possessions instead of being possessed by them, and he fitted the routine to her life instead of her life to the routine. She was very fond of music and sometimes after breakfast she would play Beethoven's Second Symphony before doing the dishes. Her husband was a newspaper man, and she used to touch with the news even if she didn't dust the house every day. So said a woman, when her older son was to be an important football star, she left the cooking and afternoons that she might witness the game.

Of course she sometimes erred on the side of neglecting her housework for things that she liked better, but surely no more than the first woman, neglecting the son of neglecting other important things because she likes housework better.

It was a remarkable experience for the visitor. She had vaguely known that such women existed, but she had never come into such close contact with the other half. At first, of course, she was horrified, then she saw how much happiness the "other half" got out of life and she actually began to wonder if she had not been a fool to let her out of the machine. She had a nice quiet as well as a nice home.

When she is there she would be surprised in finding out how the other half live.

YOUNG MAN VICTIM OF GUNMAN'S PLOT

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—William Lutkin, a young man of whom the police know little except that he comes from a respectable family and wife, has a brother who is a process server attached to the district attorney's office, is lying in Bellevue hospital today, the victim of assassins whose work recalls the gunman's methods in the Herold Rosenthal murder more than a year ago.

Lutkin is believed to have been lured to "Humpy's" Jack-o-lantern coffee house by a woman last night. The couple had just taken a seat at a table when the woman suddenly left and Lutkin started after her. He found his exit barred by four men with 45-caliber guns. They all fired and three of the four shots took effect.

A big black touring car whose motor was being started just as the shooting occurred provided means of escape for the gunman, and they were speeding away before the policeman on guard posts could reach the scene. The gunmen threw their revolvers into the street. The police have no clue to the identity of the men nor any knowledge of what led up to the mysterious shooting.

U. S. IS UNDULY ALARMED BY BRITISH NAVAL PLANS?

Strengthening of Bermuda Station

Only to Remedy Mistake, Say

English Authorities

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The Washington report of Great Britain's intention to establish a naval base in Bermuda are regarded by the London press as reflecting a misconception by Americans of the admiralty's plans.

It is admitted that the British squadron at Bermuda will be increased to four armored cruisers with a rear-guard in command, a drydock and coaling station will be established. It is declared, however, that this is merely to remedy a mistake that was made under Admiral Fisher's regime, and for the very natural purpose of affording greater protection to British shipping which makes use of the Panama Canal.

Under Lord Fisher's redistribution scheme a number of ships that had for many years been stationed at Bermuda were recalled to home waters. The four cruisers which will now be sent there will not be on permanent station, it is said, but will return home every summer for maneuvers.

The Daily Telegraph, commenting upon reports that the new plans were aimed at the Monroe doctrine, recalls the Bermudas were British before the Monroe doctrine existed and that it became a coaling station for the royal navy in regular use as early as 1860.

Eugene Field, "well-known as a poet and paragraphist," had resigned his position on the Denver Tribune to accept a better position on the Chicago News. His host of Denver friends tendered him a farewell banquet at the Windsor hotel.

Heavy rains were reported from all over the region.

The City Council was considering the drilling of an artesian well for the fire department almost no damage was done.

There was a fire at the home of Edgar Howlett, 226 North Weber street, but owing to the promptness of the fire department almost no damage was done.

August 6, 1893.

Capt. and Mrs. Seth Baker gave a lawn party to celebrate the birthday anniversary of their little daughter, Edith.

Times were so hard that almost every business firm in town was advertising great reductions in prices and continuous sales in order to attract business.

There was a fire at the home of Edgar Howlett, 226 North Weber street, but owing to the promptness of the fire department almost no damage was done.

Castings: Messrs. Borah and Brady of Idaho and Clark of Wyoming.

Of the 22 senators from the New England states, only one, Mr. Gilman of New Hampshire, declared himself in favor of woman suffrage, and declared themselves heartily in favor of suffrage, as did Clapp of Minnesota. Nelson of Minnesota took no part. The Ohio delegation was divided, Pomerene declaring himself for suffrage and Burton remaining noncommittal. Mr. Follette of Wisconsin declared that he had always been for suffrage. Mr. Stephenson, his colleague, took no part.

Of the far western states, Myers of Montana was noncommittal. His colleague, Walsh, was not present. Pittman of Nevada was for suffrage. His colleague, Mr. Newlands, took no part. Crawford of South Dakota was for suffrage. His colleague, Mr. Sterling, took no part.

The 22 senators who declared themselves for suffrage or for the submissio-

In the middle west, Sherman of Illinois spoke frequently for suffrage, while his colleague, Lewis, remained noncommittal. This is the state in which limited suffrage has just been conferred upon the women by legislative enactment, which entitles them to

COURT'S ORDER BRINGS
DATA FROM DELINQUENTS

Many Reports From Executors and Administrators of Estate Filed
With County Court

Executors and administrators of estates within the jurisdiction of the El Paso county court, which have not been settled are sending in their reports generally to the office of the clerk of the court as a result of letters which County Judge W. P. Kinney recently sent out to them. So many of the reports are coming in that the office is kept busy handling them. One of the reports was due from an estate which had been in probate since 1887. Judge Kinney said yesterday that the reports had brought with them many stories of carelessness on the part of administrators and executors which had caused litigant parties to suffer. The bondsmen in many cases are dead, and their estates have been settled, leaving no opportunity to collect on the bonds. Judge Kinney believes that all bonds should be furnished by surety companies which he thinks are better than personal bonds. This would insure reports from the executors and administrators every six months as prescribed by law.

MONEY NEEDED TO SEND
SICK WOMAN BACK HOME

A case of destitution and an ill-advised trip to another place to benefit her health came to the attention of the Associated Charities yesterday, when a young woman living near Stratton park applied for aid to return to her home in Miss. Ass.

Suffering from a lingering illness, the young woman's family, who live near Springfield, Mo., spent every cent they had to send her here for her health. However, the change did not do much good, and yesterday the board decided it would be better for her to be sent home to her family, since she is unable to support herself. The young woman is without means, and her family is unable to help her. The Associated Charities is trying to raise the necessary amount to send her home.

A broad stairway has been cut through the south part of the building from the first to the third story, which, together with a change of wiring, makes the building less liable to fire danger.

The Standard oil drilling plant expected to arrive at the fields today.

The rig will be set up on the property

All preparations for the erection of the rig have been made and everything on the field now is in readiness for the

The company expects to sink the oil well in a depth of from 1,200 to 1,600

SPRINGS MAN WHO PAY
GIRL'S WAY TO COAST

Touched by the story of a deaf and dumb girl in Denver, who stole last week to obtain money to reach her husband in California before her child is born, a wealthy Colorado Springs man whose name is withheld, yesterday offered to pay all transportation expenses of the woman to California
according to Wood F. Wetherell, agent for the Associated Charities in this city through whom the offer was made.

The man went to the office of the Associated Charities yesterday with a clipping from a Denver paper giving the details of the arrest of Mrs. Elaine Tanner for substituting imitation gold rings for the real article on jewelers' trays, and selling the genuine rings to get expense money to California, where her husband had gone in search of work.

In order to put the offer of the Colorado Springs man into effect, Mr. Worcester got into communication with the Denver Associated Charities and found that the story of the arrest and the condition of the woman were true.
In addition, however, he found that the woman would not be prosecuted.
According to Mr. Worcester, if these parties do not pay the woman's transportation to California, the Colorado Springs man stands ready to do so.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO DISTRIBUTE CARDS TODAY

3,000 Will Be Handled Out Free From Information Bureau on Pikes Peak Avenue

Today is postcard day again in Colorado Springs.

Following the plan started three years ago of giving away postcards advertising Colorado Springs the Chamber of Commerce will distribute free from 3,000 to 3,500 postcard views of Cheyenne Mountain from Manitou Peak to all who call for them
at the Chamber of Commerce information bureau on Pikes Peak Avenue, between Tejon and Nevada.

Last Wednesday was the first time
this year postcard day was resumed from now until September cards will be given out in this manner each Wednesday.

This week's card is unusually beautiful, and on the address side carries a short, "booster" exposition concerning the city.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES
AIDED MANY LAST MONTH

The July report of the Associated Charities, given out yesterday, shows that a wide variety and a large amount of assistance to the needy was given during the month.

Aid was given to 48 families and to 32 sick and homeless men. Four of these men were incurably ill and were sent home; four others were given light work and four were secured permanent employment. Many were found temporary employment.

Two hundred and twenty-six quarts of milk were given to the pick. Help was given to a woman who broke down last week under the strain of supporting a family of three children and to a woman seriously ill who arrived here with two small children.

Considerable assistance was given to both homeless men and women. Another feature of the month's work was the aid in the way of counsel and advice given, such as advice from lawyers, physicians and friends.

ADJUSTMENT OF FREIGHT
RAILS WILL HELP STATE

Colorado Springs and other Colorado cities have been placed on a more equitable basis for competition with eastern trade centers as a result of a recent decision of the Interstate commerce commission in the freight rate suit brought almost two years ago by the Colorado Manufacturers association to compel railroads to charge the same rates from the west to the east and from the east to the west.

The commission upheld the complaint of the manufacturers' association insofar as class rates are concerned, although it ordered no reduction in commodity rates. However, the complainant was asked to present
a modified schedule of commodity rates based on the reduction made recently on the class rates.

The case grew out of a decision of the interstate commerce commission two years ago, when it ordered western railroads to reduce rates from the west to the east from $2.05 to $1.80.
The reduction was made, making the rates from Colorado to the east 25 cents higher than from the east to Colorado. It was for the purpose of equalizing the two rates that the suit was started.

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Wheat made a downward plunge today, influenced in part by an estimate that this year's crop in the United States is the largest on record. The market closed steady, but failed to hold under just now. Corn finished 5c to 10c off, oats, 10c, and provisions, up to 10c to 15c.

According to a leading authority, the wheat yield for this season will reach a total of 37,000,000 bushels, in excess of that of the preceding 12 months. The new record was figured to be 42,000,000 bushels winter wheat and 27,000,000 bushels spring wheat. It was after this estimate had been made public that the market, which had been under heavy selling pressure throughout, reached the low point of the day and closed 10c lower. The market is in a mood of weakness, as in the end of last year, but corn is still in a high state of enthusiasm regarding corn and the total lack of export call, notwithstanding that shippers here were then making transatlantic offers at the lowest relative price on the crop.

Although the shortage of corn and oats this year was declared to be 1,000,000,000 bushels compared with a year ago, both cereals showed healthy gains all day, barring a plunge at the close. Tadlock, who had a whale of a time, was as large as before. Non-professional buying, especially seeming to have been exhausted. Resting orders to sell at an advance were made in evidence. Predictions of scattered showers disengaged the bulls, and so did later reports of some rain at various points.

The bulls did not take off, but all well-tilled the market had been taken off to 10c to 15c yesterday and held to that point.

Previous indications of a demand for the long awaited corn crop were that great declines in the long market would continue to some comfortable degree.
